We must hear from you no later than 60 days after the earlier of the date you electronically accessed your account, if the error could be viewed in your electronic history, or the date we sent you the FIRST statement on which the error or problem appeared.

In your letter or telephone call, you need to tell us:

- (1) Your name and the account number.
- (2) The dollar amount and date of the suspected error.
- (3) Describe the error or the transfer you are unsure about and explain as clearly as you can why you believe it is in error.

If we need more time, we may take up to 45 days to investigate your dispute or question. If we decide to do this, we will provisionally credit your account within 10 business days for the amount you think is in error, so that you will have the money during the time it takes us to complete our investigation. If we ask you to submit your dispute or question in writing and we do not receive it within 10 business days, we may not provisionally credit your account.

For errors involving new accounts, point-of-sale transactions or foreign-initiated transactions, we may take up to 90 days to investigate your complaint or question. For new accounts, we may take up to 20 business days to credit your account for the amount you think is in error. We will tell you the results within three business days after completing our investigation. If we decide that there was no error, we will send you a written explanation.
